

Sicilian Folk Instruments

Tamburello

the percussion instrument that keeps the beat

Organetto

a kind of accordion invented around 200 years ago

Guitar

called the "chitarra" in Sicilian and often played by solo singers accompanying themselves

Marranzanu

sometimes called the jaw harp, an instrument played with your mouth with a twangy sound

